U.K., France, Israel Agree To Make Token Withdrawal

Bitter Debate In Store

(From UP and CP Reports)
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—Britain, France and Israel told UN secretary-general Dag Hammarskjöld last night that they are withdrawing some of their forces from Egypt.

British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd announced that Britain was taking one battalion out of Port Said as evidence of good faith and diplomatic sources said Britain was considering a complete withdrawal from Egypt in about four weeks.

Reliable sources said France also told Hammarskjöld it was reducing its forces in Egypt by one third, and Israeli sources said they told the secretary-general they were cutting down their forces in the Sinai desert. Hammarskjöld reported to the United Nations general assembly earlier yesterday that the presence of British, French and Israeli troops was preventing the UN emergency force from fulfilling its task in Egypt.

SWITCH PHASED

One company of Norwegians moved into the key Suez Canal city yesterday. The British withdrawal of a battalion was phased to coincide with that movement. The Norwegian company was 190 men. A British battalion is about 1,200.

Syria charged in the General Assembly meanwhile that Anglo-French-Israeli forces were building up a "massive concentration on Israel's borders with Syria and Lebanon, threatening a new outbreak of war in the Middle East."

A British spokesman denied "categorically" that any British or French forces were in Israel, Jordan or Syria. Israeli Ambassador Abba S. Eban said the Syrian charge was a "pure fabrication."

Eban told the assembly he considered the Syrian charge a "diversionary" move and wondered if it did not "imply aggressive intentions or plans on the part of Syria."

Hammarskjöld's report said he and Nasser had agreed on broad principles to govern use of the force.

Hammarskjöld said that, if the assembly approved, he and Nasser would "explore jointly concrete aspects of the functioning of the emergency force, including whether or not it would police the canal zone."

He said these negotiations would be based on two major principles: 1. Egypt's sovereignty will be recognized in matters concerning the presence and functioning of the UN force.

2. The UN will maintain its force in Egypt until it has completed its task of supervising the cease-fire and the withdrawal of troops. The French were understood to be highly displeased with nearly all aspects of Hammarskjöld's report.

Bitter debate is forecast but the British and French are believed likely to find more members sympathetic to their position than came to their side when the issue first went before the assembly.

One responsible diplomat said that if Britain and France had "put it crudely" right at the start and said they were acting to stop Russian moves, the course of events in the assembly might have been very different.

BASED ON FAITH

Israeli sources complained that Nasser's "good faith" is the basis for everything in the report. They said the main point in Hammarskjöld's report concerns the withdrawal and that he has done nothing about demanding compliance with the Nov. 2 assembly resolution forbidding introduction of arms into the area, calling for freedom of navigation of the Suez Canal and numerous other questions of principle.

These sources said the Hammarskjöld plan would restore the situation prevailing before Israel invaded Egypt. This would mean, they said, that the world would be right back in the situation which caused the latest explosion in the Middle East.

Israel Sets Terms

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Israel set conditions Wednesday night for its withdrawal from Egypt. It said it wanted to be ensured against the threat of attack and against "acts of belligerency by land or sea" before it pulled out.

The Israeli government stated this position in a note to UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld. It has always classified Egypt's interference with Israeli shipping in the Suez Canal and the Red Sea Gulf of Aden as an act of belligerency.

SEATTLE (AP)—A negotiations deadlock yesterday between the Seattle Transit System and spokesmen for 1,500 members of the Street Car Men's Union appeared certain to touch off a city bus strike Friday morning.

Churchill Chides UN

WOODFORD, England (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill, in a speech read for him here Wednesday, said the United Nations had been neither wise nor helpful to Britain in its rebuke to the British government over the Suez Canal crisis.

It was the first public pronouncement on the Middle East situation by the former prime minister, who will be 82 next week.

Churchill's message said: "The Egyptian action in blocking the Suez Canal is a heavy blow to their own economy as well as a blow to all maritime nations."

"It is not hard to guess at the instigators of an action that can only prolong unrest and start economic distress in the Middle East and all over the world."

"I am a patron of the United Nations Association in the country, but I cannot agree that their rebuke to this government was either wise or helpful."

"Would they have preferred us to flounder in impotence and see the whole Middle East gradually slip into chaos and Russian domination?"

Sinclair Used Cheap Trick Says Bennett

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Bennett of British Columbia Wednesday night accused federal Fisheries Minister Sinclair—also from B.C.—of a "cheap political manoeuvre" in an announcement Wednesday about a federal-B.C. agreement on the route of the Trans-Canada Highway in the province.

The West Coast premier, discussing B.C. matters with several cabinet ministers for the last three days, turned to reporters that Mr. Sinclair had violated an understanding between the premier and Trade Minister Howe that nothing was to be announced until the matter had gone through cabinet.

"The announcement by Mr. Sinclair was a straight political one," the Social Credit premier said. "We resent this, at a time when we are trying to establish good relations with Ottawa."

Mr. Sinclair's statement made it known that the two governments had agreed on a route for the Trans-Canada Highway in B.C. that will extend it across Vancouver harbor through the minister's Coast-Capilano constituency and involve federal participation in a new bridge across the Fraser River and in the Second Narrows bridge being built by the provincial government from Vancouver to North Vancouver.

It was understood the plan is to go to the cabinet today. Mr. Sinclair's statement indicated that he originated the plan and sold it to the federal government. Mr. Bennett said it was contained in a written memo he submitted to cabinet ministers this week at a series of meetings.

'He Wasn't There'

"Mr. Sinclair wasn't at any of these conferences," he said. "He is making an announcement on something he had nothing whatsoever to do with."

Trade Minister Howe, who coordinated federal dealings with Mr. Bennett, confirmed Wednesday night he and the B.C. premier had an arrangement that neither of them would make an announcement at the moment.

Mr. Howe said he did not talk to the fisheries minister about the matter but it was "understandable" that Mr. Sinclair could announce it.

Said Mr. Sinclair: "He had made representations to his colleagues earlier this year. They had accepted them. The B.C. public works minister had given concurrence in a recent letter."

"It is perfectly proper for the B.C. federal minister to announce

Rationing

Protest Strikes Hit U.K.

LONDON (AP)—Wildcat strikes of truck drivers and motor mechanics protesting gasoline rationing threatened to disorganize delivery of food and other stocks in many parts of Britain Wednesday night.

The strikes were aimed at the government's rationing system designed to force one in 10 commercial vehicles off the highways to save gasoline during the Suez-Middle East crisis.

Rationing begins Dec. 17. Drivers contended it would knock a tenth of the workers off their jobs. Late Wednesday about 1,000 had left their vehicles and some maintenance workers walked out with them.

APPARENT TODAY

Since the walkouts were unofficial and without union sanction, the extent of the strike will not be apparent before the deliveries of food scheduled today to London's big central market at Covent Garden.

Gasoline rationing will reduce government revenue drastically.

Canada Gets Big Hand

Olympics Open In Color Blaze

MELBOURNE (CP)—A crowd of 103,000 cheering Australians jammed every available corner of Melbourne's Cricket Club Stadium today to watch the Duke of Edinburgh declare the 16th Olympic Games officially open.

Brilliant sunshine enhanced the vividly colored uniforms of Australian army and navy bands and the green field and brick-red running track of the Stadium as the shirt-sleeved crowd watched the opening ceremonies.

The duke, in naval uniform, stood stiffly at the salute for the national anthem, then sat in the royal box as the 4,514 athletes from 67 countries marched past in their contrasting uniforms.

GREETERS IN LEAD

Led, according to tradition, by the Greek team, the other countries marched past in alphabetical order with Australia, as the home team, bringing up the rear. Applause greeted the appearance of each team, with Canada's big squad drawing a particularly big hand as they did a smart eyes-right for the duke. The girls wore white skirts and blue jackets, the men blue jackets with grey slacks.

The biggest hand of all went to the Hungarian team, its flag conspicuously denuded of its hammer and sickle.

U.S. SALUTED

The band broke into The Stars and Stripes Forever as a cheer heralded the United States team, marching six abreast in five platoons.

They were followed by the Russians, marching precisely with vigorous arm motion. The men wore off-white jackets, the girls skirts of the same color. Many of the American athletes joined in the applause as the Russians appeared.

SHORT OPENING

At the invitation of W. S. Kent Hughes, chairman of the Olympic organizing committee, the duke pronounced the simple, traditional words:

"I declare open the Olympic Games of Melbourne, celebrating the 15th Olympiad of the modern era."

Budapest Workers Retaliate

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungarian workers clamped an official, three-day strike on this Russian-ruled capital Wednesday in retaliation for government interference in a meeting of the National Council of Workers.

Only the food industry was exempted from the strike call, issued by the Workers Council of Greater Budapest.

Premier Janos Kadar's police and troops, backed by Russian tanks, had prevented members of the national council from meeting as scheduled in the Budapest Sports Hall.

GUNS BAR WAY

Police armed with sub-machine-guns blocked all streets leading to the hall, adjacent to the People's Stadium.

Enraged members of the Budapest council, who under pressure from Kadar had called on Budapest workers earlier this week to return to their jobs, trooped to another meeting place and voted to strike.

In a resolution which included the strike call, the council called on the government to recognize the National Workers' Council as sole negotiating agent for the workers and demanded an affirmative answer by today.

Press Urges Palace:

'Give Us More News'

Press Army Barred

CAIRO (Reuters)—The Anglo-French command refused to allow 150 newspaper men into Port Said with the first United Nations soldiers Wednesday, according to reports reaching here.

The first UN troops consisted of 133 Norwegian officers and men. That would have given a ratio of about three reporters for every four UN soldiers.

LONDON (CP)—The British Press Council said yesterday Buckingham Palace should improve the quality and supply of news given to the country's newspapers concerning the activities of the Royal Family.

In its third annual report, the council devoted a special section to relations between the Royal Family and the press and said: "It would be lacking in candor if it pretended that dealings between the press and the press department in the royal household were always happy and harmonious."

There was need to spare the Queen from unnecessary intrusion, but interest in the Royal Family was so intense that unless newspapers received satisfaction from official channels they were almost forced to consult unofficial sources. At the same time the council admitted that "some newspapers descended to the lowest levels of bad taste and worse manners" last year in recounting the romance between Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

It added: "The private lives of public men and women, especially royal persons, have always been the subject of a natural curiosity. That this is so is one of the consequences of fame or eminence or sincere national affection. Everything, therefore, that touches the crown is of public interest and concern."

But, the report said, there were plainly limits beyond which royal tolerance or endurance should not be asked to go.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THE recent British Columbia liquor profit grab is a shocking example of moral dishonesty and greed.

The government used a small wholesale price increase as an excuse to soak the consumer twice as much more, and it tried to throw the blame on the distillers.

When the manufacturers said they would raise prices by 15 cents and upward, our rulers yelled with pretended rage and launched a phony boycott that lasted a week.

Now they pass on the 15-cent increase and add 30 cents of extra government profit for good measure. It is a long time since any B.C. government showed such cynical contempt for the intelligence and the pocket-book of the ordinary man.

At a time when business men and consumers alike have been urged to use restraint to help curb inflation, the state liquor monopoly decides to squeeze a double profit from the wretched buyer.

If the government held a monopoly on the sale of bread rather than alcohol, such reckless greed would start a revolt.

However, since some people regard spirits as a luxury, and a sinful luxury at that, the government hopes that its legal extortion won't stir enough anger to do any harm.

But I think the government has guessed wrong this time. Thousands of plain decent voters buy a bottle of liquor now and then, and about 90 per cent of them are blazing mad. They will stay mad for quite a while. If their memory shows any sign of fading before the next election, there are plenty of people willing to remind them.

Governments are defeated not so much by a large and closely-reasoned discontent on the part of the voters, but by a number of small and middle-sized grievances which build up to the point of explosion.

The pressure-gauge of public annoyance rose several points this week. If the government is wise it will open a valve and let some of that anger escape. In plainer words, it should acknowledge an error and bring the price of liquor down.

Tug Sailor Is Safe Family Told

The wife and family of Harry Tebb, crewman aboard the deep-sea tug Sudbury, were feeling a little better yesterday.

A wireless message from the Sudbury in northern Pacific waters said simply: "Tebb's condition good."

The Sudbury hurried to Adak, U.S. naval base in the Aleutians on Monday after Tebb developed symptoms of appendicitis. He is being treated there by a U.S. Coast Guard doctor.

The Sudbury, an Island Tug and Barge-Lift salvage vessel, was headed for the U.S. freighter Thunderbird, drifting without a propeller in mid-Pacific, when the 500-mile Adak trip became necessary.

Company officials expect the Sudbury to hook up with the Thunderbird some time before noon today for the 2,000-mile tow to Seattle.

Ottawa Will Share Cost of Big Bridge

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has reached an agreement with British Columbia to extend the Trans-Canada Highway to Horseshoe Bay and for sharing in cost of a new, toll-free Second Narrows bridge, Fisheries Minister Sinclair announced yesterday.

The B.C. Minister of Highways, Mr. Sinclair, said that as a result of the agreement to extend the national highway to Horseshoe Bay, a summer resort on the shore of Howe Sound, the federal government now will share in the cost of construction of a new Second Narrows bridge. It will also share in the cost of the proposed upper level highway across North Vancouver and West Vancouver to Horseshoe Bay.

It will also share in the cost of the proposed upper level highway across North Vancouver and West Vancouver to Horseshoe Bay.

Mr. Sinclair also announced federal agreement to share in cost of construction of a new bridge across the Fraser River. It will be built to the east of the present Pattullo bridge at New Westminster, and form part of a new Trans-Canada Highway approach to Vancouver.

He said the Louheed Highway will link this bridge with the Second Narrows bridge. This route would provide a fast route to the north shore of Vancouver harbor and relieve the present congestion on the Pattullo bridge.

SHOCK TREATMENT AT THE COAL FACE

One of the rigorous tests passed with honours by the Tudor Oyster Prince, was conducted 1,000 feet underground. This new self-winding wrist-watch, sponsored by Rolex of Geneva, was worn continuously by a miner, for no less than 252 hours at the coal-face.

Working with drill, hatchet, maul, shovel and sledge, his Oyster Prince suffered such vibration as few self-winding watches would withstand. How did the watch react? Incredibly enough, at the end of the six weeks, during which the watch was never removed from his wrist nor once reset, it had to be corrected by no more than a few seconds.

This is testimony, indeed, to the remarkable protection and accuracy given by its two exclusive patented Rolex features—the permanent waterproof and dustproof Oyster case, and the unique "rotor" self-winding mechanism.

We can now show you this remarkable, but modestly priced, Tudor Oyster Prince, cased in gleaming stainless steel, and with a matching expanding bracelet.

No other self-winding watch has ever been put through the exhaustive tests of endurance that the Tudor Oyster Prince has passed in such triumph. Waterproof in its Oyster case, self-wound by its patented "rotor" mechanism, it is a marvel of accuracy under any conditions.

Montrealer Predicts City Going Bankrupt

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—The Quebec legislature yesterday heard a prediction that Montreal, under Mayor Jean Drapeau's administration, is heading for bankruptcy.

Frank Hanley, independent member from Montreal-St. Anne, speaking "as a member of the provincial parliament and city councillor," charged that the Drapeau administration "holds the city council in utter contempt, just as it treats the English minority, and is dooming the metropolis of Canada to bankruptcy."

Another Montrealer, Liberal member, Richard Hyde from Montreal-Westmount, accused Premier Maurice Duplessis' National Union government of maintaining a form of iron curtain around the province of Quebec.

MUST INTERVENE
Hanley said, "I am convinced that the provincial government must intervene in the present administration of our present affairs."

Court to Rule on Mystery Woman

Is Last of Romanoffs a Fake?

By MARGARET KROHN

North American Newspaper Alliance

BERLIN—A West Berlin court is being asked to write a legal finish to the 38-year-old mystery of Anastasia, youngest daughter of the last Czar of Russia, Nicholas II.

The prince of Hesse seeks a court decision that Anastasia was executed by a Bolshevik firing squad, leaving the Royal House of Hesse the legal heir of the Romanoff dynasty.

Contesting the suit is a treacherous woman who has been living in a shack near Stuttgart under the name "Anna Anderson" since 1928 when she visited the United States.

She claims that she is the Grand Duchess Anastasia. The court will decide on this claim. A stage play based on her mystery was a hit, first in Paris and then, two seasons ago, on Broadway, and sold to the movies for a five-figure sum, of which the woman called Anna Anderson received $12,000.

Mrs. Anderson asserts today, as fervently as she has for 28 years, that she is Anastasia. And today her story is as fervently disputed as it was 28 years ago.

The Prince of Hesse says his suit is not a matter of money, but of his obligation to prevent misuse of the Romanoff name.

Key witness in the hearing is Hans-Joachim Meyer, a 62-year-old Austrian, whose testimony is as controversial as the identity of Mrs. Anderson.

Meyer has said that he was captured by the Russians as an Austrian soldier, joined the Communists in the October revolution and witnessed the execution of the Czar and the royal family.

He said that the Reds used only revolvers and that there were no survivors. The body of the young Anastasia by lifeless next to the czar and his four other children, according to Meyer.

But Mrs. Anderson's attorney charges that the Austrian once offered to identify her as Anastasia—for $500,000. And Mrs. Anderson's story conflicts with Meyer's testimony that only revolvers were used—she says that she bears a jagged scar on her foot inflicted by the execution squad's bayonets.

Officially, the czar, his family, his doctor and servants were cut down by gunfire and crushed with rifle butts in the cellar of a small Russian burned in a mine.

Mrs. Anderson says, however, that she was carried off by a young guard, who later married her. She asserts that she had a child by this guard, which she put into a Bucharest foundling home.

Her husband, she says, was assassinated by the Soviets after they learned he had rescued the czar's daughter. She reached Berlin, where she tried to commit suicide. Rescued by police, she was placed in an insane asylum where she spent two years, too ill to argue her identity.

Sunday Trade To Tourists Held Vital

SIDNEY—Charge of contravening the Lord's Day Act by Tudor China Shop was dismissed in Sidney police court yesterday.

Defence counsel George Gregory introduced evidence to show that the tourist industry is of vital importance to the economy of Sidney and that selling directly to tourists on Sunday was a case of necessity under the act.

Magistrate F. J. Baker said in view of exemption listed in the act there was enough doubt raised to warrant a dismissal of the charge.

Saanich school board has decided to accept the revised bid by M. B. East for construction of two classrooms, administration area, book storage and medical room at Mt. Newton High School.

Original tender by Mr. East was $49,426, but revision of specifications reduced this by $6,000.

Acting on the advice of school inspector Dr. Harry Johns, the school board has instructed architects Polson and Siddall to prepare plans for addition of two rooms at Royal Oak Elementary School. The rooms were included in the last referendum.

Trustees of school district 63 acted warily Monday when told the Capital Regional Planning Board had recommended they buy property in the new VLA subdivision west of Sidney for a site for a school board office.

The matter was passed to committee for consideration. Some trustees thought building on ground occupied by the present office was more sensible.

Sidney village has offered VLA $2,000 for two acres at the corner of Beacon Avenue and Seventh Street for a village headquarters building, adjacent to land suggested for school board.

It has been reported to the school district board that Townsend Drive Elementary School may be ready for occupancy Nov. 30, and that general offices, staff room and clothing room are now in use at North Saanich High School, and the activity room at Cordova Bay has been opened.

School trustee Fred Gilbert continues to be mystified by the light bill for Royal Oak School.

"The bill for this school is 50 per cent higher than all the rest of the district," he told the board. "I've done everything I can, but I can't find any reason for it," he said.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP)—Canada will contribute $500,000 this year to the United Nations Children's Fund, Mrs. Ann Shipley, Liberal member of parliament for Timiskaming, Ont., said Tuesday.

Mrs. Shipley, a member of the Canadian UN delegation, told the Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee that Canada is "proud to be associated in the important work of the Children's Fund, which is one of the most widely supported and universally appreciated parts of the work of the United Nations." Canada contributed a like amount last year.

Clean Propane Gas On Rise as Truck Fuel

Propane gas is being used instead of gasoline by four Victoria industrial firms in operation of their fleets of fork-lift trucks.

One local firm, which supplies the gas, uses propane to operate its fleet of four tank trucks.

While most of the development work in the use of propane gas here for engine fuel has been in industry, it is quite practical to use it in private cars. J. P. MacBride, local manager of Rockwell Propane Ltd., told The Colonist.

DISTRIBUTION PROBLEM

Supply of propane fuel is unlimited, he said, but the big problem is in distributing it to customers. The fuel is supplied as a liquid under pressure into specially-built tanks and can not be carried around in a bottle. It reaches the carburetor as a vapor.

Main advantage, Mr. MacBride said, is in the reduction of maintenance costs, as there is far less wear and tear on an engine using clean-burning propane.

He added that "comparing the consumption of gasoline to propane, there is no appreciable saving."

But H. L. Pitts, Port Alberni trucker who operates four trucks on propane gas, disagrees. Mileage from propane gas is equal to that obtained from gasoline, but he finds propane gas about 10 cents a gallon cheaper.

In Victoria, firms using the gas for their fork-lift trucks are B.C. Forest Products, Sidney Roofing, Victoria Machinery De-

Ottawa Shuns Fruit Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP)—Fisheries Minister Sinclair said Wednesday night the federal government will not participate in a proposed joint federal-provincial royal commission inquiry into the British Columbia fruit industry.

He was commenting on a report that B.C. Trade Minister Ralph Chetwynd planned to visit the capital next weekend to propose federal participation in an inquiry into the industry's problems. Mr. Sinclair, who represents the low prices growers received for B.C. fruiting of Coast-Caplan in their apples and the good prices the Commons, said in an interview that he has written to the B.C. Fruit Growers Association that Agriculture Minister Gardiner has offered his department's help to the growers in presenting their case to a provincial royal commission.

The fisheries minister said Mr. Gardiner shared his opinion that any commission would be investigating marketing under a provincial act and was not a matter for a federal royal commission. A federal commission could be accused of interference.

Mr. Sinclair said that during his western tour, about three weeks ago, fruit growers had asked him

What's To Be Done with Them?

HOODLUMS, though meeting no resistance when holding up a small store, viciously beat and kicked the 71-year-old proprietor despite his pleas that they take his money and leave him alone. A man waiting at a bus stop was beaten across the hands with a length of chain wielded by two young motor-cyclists who then fastened the chain around him and tried to drag him behind their machine. A motorist who declined to move his parked car had his nose terribly mutilated by a broken beer bottle which a youthful assailant used as a weapon.

These assaults, among many others of only slightly lesser brutality, all occurred within the last few weeks. The scene was Vancouver and its outskirts. More recently a woman of 76 was so brutally beaten by a youthful thug that one of her wrists was broken, in the process of a sidewalk hold-up that yielded the assailant 40 cents. But this was in Victoria, which shows that sadistic savagery is not confined to the big cities with their underworld elements. Nor was the woman who was taken to hospital last weekend the first elderly person to be shockingly beaten up by young robbers in this supposedly quiet town.

When this youth and others like him are caught, what are the courts to do with them? Crimes of violence, of point-less brutality reflecting pleasure in inflicting pain, have reached such dimensions lately that there appear to be no adequate measures for dealing with them. Attacks like these by youths and young men who have had all the advantages afforded in this country leave one aghast and bewildered.

There never was a time when young criminals were treated as leniently or had as many excuses made for their behavior incomprehensible to people brought up under stricter discipline. What have the psychiatrists—and those who seem to think that a new life for the offender is more important than the protection of his potential victims—to say in extenuation of the inhuman violence that is becoming commonplace in these "enlightened" times? If youths like this are not punished with the utmost severity allowed by law no way is left to prevent others with hoodlum instincts from copying them. If they are not put away, whose aged grandmother will be the next to be battered?

A Good Idea

IT will be for next year's city council to decide, but the new aldermanic idea of garbage disposal is one that seems deserving of favorable consideration. It is at least a practical and positive plan which if adopted would end the long hum-and-haw that has been associated with this problem. It should also assure cleaner beaches, although all the fetid matter that drifts ashore does not come out of local garbage cans; passing ships bear a share of the blame.

Nevertheless sea-dumping has worn out its virtue as a means of emptying a city of its garbage. Theoretically the sea should take the debris and either absorb it in its bed or float it to far-off climes, but the sea has its own moods and conveniences. The sanitary landfill method so often mooted is difficult to accommodate within city boundaries because of ratepayers' objections. Probably no site could gain neighborhood assent; thus the idea of hauling it to Thetis Park has distinct merit. There is no one there to raise obstacles and the project would not interfere with existing amenities or with the citizens who use the park for summer pleasure and relaxation.

Haulage to Thetis would cost more than haulage to the city garbage wharf, but this is a factor that in substantial part would be offset. There would be no need then to build the new $100,000 garbage wharf which has been accepted as being necessary if the present sea dumping practice continues. Another consideration is that the sanitary landfill method is a form of reclamation. Dumping at Thetis would in time open up new areas for park use, creating an asset out of the swampy land where it is proposed to locate the landfill.

The idea is certainly worth the serious study of next year's council, if only to remove one of the embarrassments of communal life. As the population grows so does the amount of garbage and each year exaggerates the problem. This new suggestion promises a way to deal with the problem that should be beneficial and lasting.

B.C. Agent General

WHILE the shuffle in which Mr. W. A. McAdam, B.C. agent-general at London, is to resign on Dec. 31 and be re-engaged again on Jan. 2 is by no means clear, it apparently stems from wishes he expressed to the provincial government while here recently with Mrs. McAdam on a brief furlough from the post he has carried with outstanding success for many years. In 1954 his term was extended for four years, and on his recent visit it was again made clear that the administration would be glad to have him remain in the London post as long as he wishes to do so. It seems to have been the agent-general's preference that he should formally vacate the position, but remain "at pleasure" pending the appointment of a successor.

Under that formula, Mr. McAdam will carry on as agent-general for the Province until the government by naming a successor elects otherwise. British Columbians will be pleased that his wealth of experience is to continue at the disposal of the province under this or any other formula. In a remarkable fashion he built up B.C. House in London until it is one of the liveliest Canadian agencies anywhere afield. Recent plans, agreed to on his visit, contemplate the remodeling of the entrance to the building and enlarging present facilities for handling the thousands of callers which its information function attracts.

Not many British Columbians know that B.C. House is owned by British Columbia, by acquisition of the property long ago in what has since proved a most successful investment. Not all of the premises have been used by the Province, and rentals in the past of space not suited to B.C. needs but commercially valuable otherwise have brought in revenues substantial enough to offset much of the cost of the overseas office. For its outlay, under wise management, British Columbia has enjoyed a first-class overseas liaison headquarters beyond computation value in its service to the province.

We hope that the administration waits for a long time before it names "a successor."

Interpreting the News

Two Brands of Communism

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

THERE seems to be more than a slight chance that Tito and the Kremlin may shortly engage in conflict.

The logic of history is usually stronger than personal preferences. And the logic of history in the Tito-Moscow case is that Tito's national communism in Yugoslavia is a challenge to Soviet power as long as the Kremlin insists on dominating even one state in Eastern Europe.

Tito understands this. Speaking of how, after the Poznan bread riots in June he noted a coolness among Soviet leaders, he said last week:

"They thought we Yugoslavs were responsible. Yes, we are responsible because we live in this world, because we are what we are..."

Tito has reasons for wanting to avoid a renewal of strife with the Soviet Union. Among the most important are the economic reasons—some $600,000,000 worth of subsidies, grants, reparations and credits granted by Soviet bloc countries to Yugoslavia to save the rapprochement.

The Soviet leaders have as great an interest in political peace with Yugoslavia. They took a licking in that warfare once and could make themselves look silly by starting it up again. Tito in his speech at Pula Nov. 11 was caustic about the actions of the Soviet Union in Hungary and strongly attacked the Stalinist element in the Soviet Union and outside. But he did excuse the second Soviet intervention in the Hungarian revolution, arguing that while an "error" it was necessary in order to prevent counter-revolution.

Pravda's reply on Nov. 19 was sharp. It claimed Tito was interfering in the internal affairs of other socialist states. It objected to his thesis that the Stalin cult—in Communist Hungary and the actions of the Soviet Union in Hungary—was the personality cult—was a normal product of the Soviet system rather than an aberration of it. It objected to Tito's division of Communists into categories of Stalinist and anti-Stalinist.

Despite its forceful rejection of Tito's concepts, the Pravda article was within a framework of Communist self-criticism. It stressed Tito's support for the Kadar government in Hungary. It did not indulge in a diatribe against the Yugoslav Communists. In other words, it left the door open, as had Tito, for a reconciliation of views, even on a basis of an agreement to disagree.

Thinking Aloud

"... of aboos—and ships—and sailing was—of cabbages and kings."
By TOM TAYLOR

ECIL B. DeMILLE has made another Biblical motion picture, "The Ten Commandments," which doubtless will reach a local screen before long. Inevitably of course it is an "epic," typical of the showmanship associated with this well-known producer.

It is entertainment, not religion. Yet presumably neither believer nor non-believer will view this film and remain untouched by its Biblical message.

As "The Ten Commandments" made its first appearance in U.S. theatres last week a Hebrew scholar published a translation of one of the recently discovered Dead Sea scrolls. It is part of an apocryphal Book of Genesis, describing in fuller fashion than does Genesis of the Authorized Version the life of Abraham and Sara in Egypt.

One supposes that even an unbeliever, reading this scroll, might be induced to wonder if his emancipation from religious thought is as valid as he imagined.

Dr. Brock Chisholm will have no doubts on the subject. In pursuance of what seems to be a mission to keep parents from teaching their children anything, he tells a Winnipeg audience that people who send their children to Sunday School when they themselves are unbelievers are guilty of "the ultimate in ridiculousness."

One might ask: "Why does he say that?" were it not that he has previously castigated parents for introducing their offspring to Santa Claus, warned them that this will turn them into juvenile delinquents, and said that adult concepts of right and wrong are suspect and therefore should not be passed on to children.

Thus anything he says about children need not surprise anyone. Speaking further on the matter, he says, quote: "Many people have freed themselves from the old taboos, but a great number of them think that in doing so they are somehow being bad. These are the people who send their children back to Sunday School to learn things they no longer believe themselves."

If the good doctor is correctly reported then it is fair to assume he has freed himself from what he terms "old taboos" and does not subscribe to the Biblical theme. That, of course, is his privilege.

But eminent though he is, he can be quite wrong. For one thing parents can't be wholly free of religious taboos or they wouldn't send their children to Sunday School at all. If they still have a guilty feeling about their own absence from devotions then the taboo, so called, is still operative.

There is nothing ridiculous about this. As well say that because a parent had freed himself from the habit of eating stuffed olives he is a hypocrite if he allows his children to eat them.

What harm, in any case, will Sunday School do to children, unless Dr. Chisholm means that, as he has implied about Little Red Riding Hood and Jack and the Beanstalk, attendance at Sunday School in youth invites ulcers in adult life.

The Victorian psychiatrist also describes this parental action as cowardice in the face of social pressures.

It is probably something quite different: It is probably proof that the average parent, no matter his own habits of unbelief, is not as omniscient as Dr. Chisholm considers himself to be on the subject of Biblical teaching.

Reports from Ottawa

THERE was a period of shocked surprise here when the Gallup poll indicated that more Canadians approved British action in Egypt than disapproved. But when you read the fine print it was a different story.

The pollsters reported that in a "swift spot check" 43 per cent of the Canadians polled approved the Anglo-French intervention in Egypt; 40 per cent disapproved, and 17 per cent expressed no opinion. Then it came out, from none other than Dr. George Gallup himself, that only one Canadian city was involved in this "spot check," and that city was...

Yep, you guessed it, Toronto. The East Bloc leaned back in its swivel chairs and breathed easier. If the best support Britain could muster in Tory Toronto was 43 per cent, then that was considered a pretty good indication that the rest of the country must be sharply critical of the British on this issue, and perhaps by implication, approving of the Canadian government's policies in the crisis.

This conclusion is supported by two long-tested indices of public opinion: letters to the East Bloc received from citizens, and an analysis of newspaper editorials.

Foreign Minister Pearson reports that his mail since the start of Middle East hostilities has been greater than in any other crisis since he entered the cabinet in 1948. Prime Minister St. Laurent also has received what an aide called "an awful lot of mail."

When the crisis first broke, I'm told letters to Pearson were about two to one against the Anglo-French intervention and in favor of UN action to restore the peace. More recently they have been running three or four to one in favor of Pearson's policies.

No analysis of the PM's mail is available, but an aide says of the mail: "The PM is not disturbed by its tenor."

Pearson's office asserts that on the basis of a 30-newspaper survey, editorial opinion is roughly two to one in favor of the government's policies. But in recent days, with increasing indications of Russian plotting to seize control of the Middle East, a hedging has been noticeable.

The Conservatives seem to be looking for a hook on which to hang strong criticism of the government's actions in the crisis without running counter to public opinion.

With an eye to the Quebec vote, their criticism as it now appears to be shaping up is that Canada not only voted against Britain, but voted against Britain in company with Communist Russia.

That was on the second cease-fire resolution in the UN Assembly. Canada had abstained on the first; voted for the second while Britain voted against. But between the two resolutions had come Canada's police force resolution and a lot of behind-the-scenes politicking. My information is that to get India to throw its vote and prestige behind the police force plan, Pearson had to promise to support the cease-fire resolution. Russia and the U.S. voted for it.

The resolution did not condemn; it sought to stop the fighting and return the combatants to their positions before the outbreak of hostilities. Three of its sponsors were Commonwealth countries: India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

Whether this back-scratching deal constituted a Liberal "betrayal" of Britain and "aiding with the Reds" is something which, I suspect, will be debated with great emotion right up to polling day.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

WITH regard to classical music, radio sometimes forgets that everybody and anybody is listening.

They forget that, in classical music, many compositions were written by musicians for musicians. They were intended as exercises, tours de force, show pieces. They were composed long ago in a day when the public certainly was not included in the realm of music. Grand dukes and petty princes patronized and employed the outstanding musicians of their time for purposes of cultural display. Social rivalries between the noble employers resulted not only in much glorious music that even nobles could comprehend, but also in much trick music, competitive pieces, as his highness might pit his chess champion against all his fellow princelings' chess champions. It was music primarily aimed at other musicians. It was away over the head of the public at the time it was composed. It is away over the heads of everybody today except professional musicians or amateur-musicologists.

Prior to radio, you never heard this music except at recitals and gatherings of the musically elite. Even after radio was invented, the virtuosi of music, in their concert tours, never dared to inflict it on such of the general public as went to concerts.

But on radio today, due to the vastly increased interest in classical music on the part of a public that never before was admitted within the charmed circle, we find radio programmers calmly including in their lists some of these extremely wearying and often confusing compositions written by musicians for musicians. Recently a solo violin played a 20-minute composition by Bach that was the most utterly lifeless and meaningless exercise in fiddle mathematics you could imagine. Indeed, what you could imagine was Bach writing it for a little group of fiddlers of his time, sitting in some upstairs room with their beer steins and enthusiastically listening to the contestant, for such he would be, one of their number, battling with squeaks, honks, twiddles and ghastly scrapes that the score called for.

In the radio audience there might have been 1 per cent or even 5 per cent of it consisting of professional fiddlers or music scholars whose interest could justify a private hearing.

But that 20 minutes on a public symphony hour was enough to put a good many of the newcomers to the fascinating field of classical music off the program for a month or two.

Changing Pattern

By PETER BRUTON

THE provincial government has frequently urged that a reappraisal should be made of Canadian tariff policies insofar as they affect British Columbia's present position in domestic and international trade.

To date, Ontario and Quebec manufacturers have been the chief beneficiaries of national tariff policy. The provincial government states that problems peculiar to B.C. and Western Canada should also be appraised in formulating national tariff policies, and that expanding international markets for resource-based industries must be developed at the same time that market-based local industries are encouraged.

In addition they urge that federal policies be directed toward the decentralization of defence production, such as aircraft and electronic industries, where economic and in the national interest.

It is possible that recommendations along these lines may be included in the report of the royal commission on Canada's economic prospects, but the fact remains that manufacturing in B.C. could be improved.

Last year in B.C. manufacturing accounted for about 45 per cent of the total net value of commodity production, compared to 70 per cent in Ontario and 64 per cent in Quebec.

The relative position of our manufacturing industry should improve during the next 20 years and it is expected that products of primary industries, together with imported raw materials, will be processed to a greater degree and therefore will have a greater value when marketed. It is also expected that profitable new secondary industries will be established and existing ones enlarged.

B.C. industries may be divided broadly into two main groups—those which process the products of our primary industries, chiefly for export, and those which process imported and domestic materials, principally for provincial consumption.

Emphasis remains on the first group—the resource-based industries which today account for 70 per cent of the total net value of manufacturing production. The market-based industries of the second group have expanded considerably in recent years but the rate of growth has not been as fast as in industries which process the natural resources.

Forest industries have traditionally played a leading role in the resource-based group and have increased their share of the net value of manufacturing production from 42 per cent in 1939 to 52 per cent in 1955. Other important industries in this group include mineral processing, fish-canning, and vegetable and fruit processing.

The heavy concentration of manufacturing in a limited number of industries, and in forestry in particular, is expected to remain basically unchanged during the next 20 years, with forestry contributing the major share of the net value of manufacturing.

During this time it is anticipated there will be a fourfold increase in pulp and paper production, from its present value of some $112,000,000 to about $500,000,000 in 1975. At the same time, however, it is thought the increased use of plywoods and other substitutes will see a decline in the relative importance of wood products, in the main lumber, from today's 36.9 per cent of the net value of manufacturing production to 29 per cent by 1975.

Leading market-based industries, in order of importance, are printing and publishing, bread and bakery products, breweries, industrial machinery, slaughtering and meat-packing, miscellaneous food preparations, sheet-metal products, and petroleum products.

Production of food and beverages is expected to increase substantially but as these industries are based on the B.C. market the future growth should roughly be the same as the increase in population.

Government statisticians say the growth of manufacturing in British Columbia will surpass all past records because of the great potential of resource-based industries. Nevertheless the local natural resources available are limited and the expansion rate will eventually slacken. Encouragement must be given to market-based manufacture to ensure a continued rapid industrial expansion and balanced "dynamic" economy.

The smallness of the local market and limited skilled labor have retarded the range of manufacture. By 1975, however, the increased size of the local market should reduce costs of production to the point where more secondary manufactured products would be able to compete in other Canadian and world markets.

Letters to the Editor

Washing Its Hands

The Saanich council apparently intends to add to the confusion it has aroused in the minds of Saanich taxpayers by asking the voters to consider three alternatives for a municipal hall. If they don't know the answer, how do they expect ordinary Joe Taxpayer to make an intelligent decision?

It stands to reason that all three proposals are not equally beneficial to Saanich. It is becoming only too apparent that factions of council are trying to promote their pet plans, and devil take the municipality. Most people faced with voting on such an issue will be forced to decide which is the lesser evil rather than what is best, and so will probably vote to add to the old hall, at an undisclosed price, even though there is a possibility that the money may be thrown away.

The taxpayer is not in a position to determine what is best because he does not have the information in an unbiased, undistorted form, and free from election gimmicks which may become injected next month. It is convenient that the council can wash its hands of its problems, like Pilate, dumping them back into the hands of the citizenry.

It is the same with waterworks. We read that discussion is taking place by which surplus from the sale of water is to be used for sewers. Now heaven only knows that the completion of the sewers is essential, but why rob Peter to pay Paul? By practically the same paper we read that there are miles and miles of two-inch pipe which need replacement. We don't read of any program of replacement.

On our street we have a section of four-inch pipe, put in under local improvement, which is fed by a two-inch main. This particular "improvement," on which we have been paying for five years, is no longer supplying adequate pressure owing to the fact that more and more people have been connected to the feeder pipe. When we inquired about replacement of the two-inch feeder pipe we were told it would be considered. If the water funds are looted, then "considered" is all the replacement we will get.

Is it any wonder that it is hard to get men interested in investing to buy municipal bonds, when there is such a dearth of management?

A Trifle Ridiculous

Civil defence preparedness has been rather an acute topic of discussion throughout the province lately. There would seem to be, however, some definite diverse views regarding the inception of defensive control and the manipulation of it for the purpose of survival, both human and animal.

Members of the armed forces who saw service in the last war and those who have been in war theatres up to the present time are no doubt sceptical of the feasibility of evacuating large cities or towns in a matter of a few hours' notice. The chaos presented in such an action leaves everyone except those who present it as an operational fact, aghast.

The various personnel of civil defence, in their dedicated manner of going about seeking information for the proposed sheltering and livelihood of the supposed evacuees, leave much to be desired. Civil defence is a national program and therefore the first purpose should be the reinforcement of national registration cards, and especially in the like manner that the service personnel were obliged to have, with photograph and fingerprints. Also the census forms as filled out by industry and agriculture present for the provinces a complete picture of the necessary potential of the country.

I should like to point out that the proposal to use Salt Spring, North Saanich or other southerly Gulf Islands for evacuees area is fraught with many deterrents.

First, let us consider the fallout of an atomic bomb. Our prevailing wind drift is from the SSE or SSW, and therefore any part north of the Victoria target area will be rendered untenable.

Secondly, there would appear a very good likelihood of James Island being a target area in itself. The outcome of such a delivered target accomplished can readily be seen by those without even a great deal of imagination.

The above facts are presented for the purpose of constructive criticism of the present plan. The program of tearing around the countryside gleaming items of a personal nature seems a trifle ridiculous, alarming people, and it is doubtful if there would be much use made of such information in the event of an atomic or H-bomb attack.

It would seem that large shelters underground in every city and town would be the best procedure. In these stockpiles of necessities could be stored.

Presley and St. Vitus

Bringing men like Elvis Presley to this country may have a bad effect upon the people of this generation.

The dancing mania, which is not unknown in history, is a disease of the nervous system. In searching literature for accounts of such maladies, we come across various accounts of them in medieval times such as: St. Vitus' dance, St. John's dance and Tarantism, saying nothing of the frenzied form of dancing which followed the First and Second World Wars. These seizures follow in the wake of war, disease and famine. They became common during and directly following the dreadful period of the Black Death.

The mass hysteria brought on by them has characteristics of some infectious diseases of the nervous system. Terror of war and disease bring about a disintegration of society, causing some to take refuge in these dancing manias. Sometimes it has taken the form of mass wanderings from place to place, or mass hysteria, which we find in our games of sport, fights and wrestling matches. Linsner, the great biologist, classifies them with a group of infectious diseases which include infantile paralysis and various forms of encephalitis.

In 1037 at Kollig, in Germany, there was an outbreak among the peasants of quarrels, dancing and hilarity, which ended in stupor and, sometimes, death. Hecker tells us that at Erfurt in 1237 over 100 children were taken with the dancing disease and raving, leading to permanent tremors and sometimes to death.

After the Black Death both women and children of many European countries, losing all control, danced hand in hand through the streets until they fell to the ground shrieking, seeing visions and calling upon God. Schenck says of St. Vitus' dance: "Some rush around aimlessly, others dash their heads against a wall."

Eisenhower To 'Suspend' Dock Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) said it learned Wednesday that the Taft-Hartley Labor Act will be invoked Friday against its multi-million-dollar dock strike.

As the six-day strike of east and Gulf port dockers threatened to spread to the west coast, ILA counsel Louis Waldman told a federal court hearing:

"We received information today of an official nature that President Eisenhower is expected to certify to the attorney-general in Washington on Friday steps to be taken for an injunction under the Taft-Hartley law."

The law provides an 80-day suspension of a strike while efforts are made to settle the issues.

The strike by 60,000 longshoremen is costing the U.S. economy some $20,000,000 a day. It has tied up 200 ships.

Meanwhile 16,000 west coast longshoremen voted by an 85-percent majority to empower their leaders to strike in sympathy with the ILA.

Waldman was in court to answer a national labor relations board complaint against the ILA.

The NLRB questioned the ILA's right to include a master

Indians May Go To Queen

WINNIPEG (CP)—Angus Prince, spokesman for Manitoba Indians, said yesterday his people intend to take their problems direct to Queen Elizabeth unless the federal government takes requested action.

Indians want a "re-establishment" of the original treaty of 1871, he said in an interview. Indians also want to govern themselves and appoint their own Indian department officials.

Mr. Prince said Indians were not happy about the new Indian Act passed recently by Parliament. They were not asked about the act and it does not mean anything to them.

A delegation of Manitoba Indian chiefs was planning to go to Ottawa to present their case. If nothing is done they will go to the Queen.

The grandfather of Mr. Prince was one of seven chiefs who signed the Stone Fort Treaty of 1871, authorized by Queen Victoria.

Chronic
Tension
Blamed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Much of the pain that causes people to think they have arthritis can be traced to chronic emotional tension.

Dr. F. W. B. Hurlburt told 80 doctors that a constant tension creates a continuous pull on muscles which gives rise to painful shoulders, elbows and wrists and low-back pain. "The physician must be prepared to spend time with these people—assure them that they have not got arthritis or significant physical disease and banish the fear of crippling which is often paramount in their mind."

Colorful paper lanterns and the heads of patrons and spectators at the first Chinese Lantern Festival staged by the Chinatown Lions Club.

The festival itself follows no Oriental precedent, one official pointed out. And except for the glitter and pageantry, it bears some resemblance to an occidental church bazaar.

But the wares offered are delicate works of craftsmen,

Victoria walked through the doors of the Club Sirocco yesterday into the Orient, where brilliant silken hues mixed with the scent of incense and the music of flute and cymbals.

Booths display such exotic pastries as "flower wheels," "fire sticks" and almond cakes.

Wonderful scents yesterday roast turkeys and chicken and beef, prepared from dynasty-old recipes, simmered invitingly.

Broder's Bakery donated a glittering, lace-like "pagoda" fruit cake weighing 17 pounds and a week in the making.

Other Chinese arts and crafts ranged from beautifully-gowned dolls and other toys made by the Chinatown "Lionesses" to tiny imported curios and figurines of ivory and teak, and paintings.

Three magicians from Hong Kong performed under the auspices of the Victoria Chinese Free Masons Magic Group.

JAGGED GLASS

One of the trio, Ring Louie, jumped, walked and rolled over a pile of jagged window glass, barefooted and bareback, and later chewed up a light bulb as an appetizer.

Rounding out the entertainment were dances by the blue-richly-embroidered gowns and clad Chinese Girls Drill Team striking Oriental silks, with commentary by Mrs. Bessie

But the feature of the after-noon was a fashion show of affair with Mrs. Wah Quan.

Heavy UN Vote Tells Soviet To Stop Exiling Hungarians

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—In the series of votes in which the United Nations Wednesday two resolutions were approved in the Soviet and Hungarian governments called by overwhelming votes for part and then in whole the uncommitted Asian bloc, Poland and an end to the deportation of Hungarians from those areas.

The major Cuban resolution, approved by a vote of 35 to 10, urged the Soviet and Hungarian governments to take immediate steps to cease the deportation of Hungarian citizens and to restore those already deported. The other resolution, approved 37 to 8, urged Hungary to let UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld send observers into Hungary and report on the situation. This resolution was proposed by India, Ceylon and Indonesia. In both votes 14 countries abstained. Canada favored both. One of the main surprises of the Indian-Ceylon-Indonesia motion instead of opposing it. Others abstaining were Yugoslavia, Chile, Nationalist China, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Egypt, Ethiopia, Jordan, Panama, Paraguay, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Yemen. On the Cuban resolution, abstainers were Afghanistan, Egypt, Finland, India, Indonesia, Jordan, Lebanon, Libya, Morocco, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, Syria, Tunisia and Yemen. An indication that the Hungarian situation was winning more sympathy in the General Assembly was seen in the fact that eight countries which abstained Nov. 4 voted in favor of Wednesday's Asian resolution. They are Afghanistan, Burma, Ceylon, Finland, India, Indonesia, Iraq and Nepal.

U.S. Politician Sees Reds Shoot Fleeing Hungarian

VIENNA (AP)—Soviet soldiers are reported shooting Hungarians fleeing the U.S. aid program for the again, this time in an effort to stop the flow of refugees into Austria. A UN agency said Wednesday many who get through now bear the wounds of fled bullets. One who did not get through was a Hungarian man who fell from about 100 yards away, with soldiers firing at him. The man tumbled on the canal bank as he fled. He had been hit. The broad charge that Russian soldiers are shooting to block escape of the Hungarians came from the Geneva office of the United Nations high commissioner. A spokesman for that agency said nearly 32,000 Hungarians have fled to Austria since the revolution opened Oct. 23, including about 8,000 who arrived in the Eisenstadt area in the last few days.

Among these latest arrivals there are many wounded because Soviet infantry has arrived at the border and has opened fire on the refugees," he said.

Acted 'Most Improper' Two Youths Fined

Two youths were fined and in city police court yesterday. Both charged for "most improper conduct" by Magistrate Henry Hall. Brian Holmes, 18, 821 McKenzie, pleaded guilty to hitting Edwin Lalonde, 1440 Bay, on Nov. 10 while the latter was walking on Pembroke Street with two girls. He was fined $30.

Edward Hott, also 18, 2134 Ridge, pleaded not guilty to the charge, saying he had not held Lalonde while Holmes struck him. The magistrate, saying he was "not impressed" with Hott's evidence, fined him $25.

Two men, stopped together by a store detective in the T. Eaton Co. Ltd. store Tuesday and turned over to city police, yesterday admitted theft of four articles. Wilfred Black, 3750 Press Avenue, admitted taking one man's shirt and wallet, valued at less than $50.

James Loftus, Drake Hotel, pleaded guilty to theft of one dozen eggs and a pound of cheese. Both men, said prosecutor Alan Bigelow, had long records of intoxication, but no criminal records. Both were remanded to today for sentence.

Kenneth E. Hughes, Work Point Barracks, was fined $25 for possession of a spring knife. On an earlier appearance in court he pleaded not guilty, but through defence counsel James Proudfoot yesterday reversed his plea.

Christopher Paul Morgan, 205 Beach Drive, was fined $50 for driving while his licence was under suspension. He was also fined $10 for failure to display his registration prominently.

Court was told Morgan had been convicted twice of careless driving—once at Campbell River and once in Victoria, and both recently. On the second conviction his licence was suspended.

Paul J. Godbout, 1189 Fort, pleaded guilty to driving after his driver's licence had expired. He was fined $25.

Model of newly-designed metallic hip joint, patterned after the universal joint of automobiles and designed for persons with hip injuries and bone ailments, is displayed by its designer, Dr. Harry A. Gorman, U.S. Air Force. The device was unveiled at the annual meeting in Washington of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States. The ball part of the hip joint is anchored to the thigh bone with a metal pin. The metal femur fits inside a cup-like metal socket that is bolted to the pelvic bone with three toggle bolts. (CPC).

Cathedral Not Alone

Pigeons Pests at School

Christ Church Cathedral is not alone in having trouble with pigeons. The Greater Victoria school system has its troubles, too, an official said yesterday, and has tried several methods of getting rid of pigeons, without notable success. "At the moment," he said, "we're trapping them with a bait that seems to work pretty well."

Poisons aren't suitable. The pigeons don't go for them to any extent and there's the danger of poisoning pets. One outfit has a repellent, but a repellent just chases them somewhere else, and with all our schools, if we repelled them from one school they'd find another.

Meanwhile Victoria appears to be overflowing with suggestions on how to get rid of the pigeons harassing Dean Brian Whitlaw at Christ Church Cathedral.

"I'm sure half of Victoria has phoned with ideas. We're getting quite a stock of them," the dean said yesterday.

Couldn't bear to put foot to floor with SCIATICA!

"I only wish that I had learned of T-R-C's years ago!" So writes Mrs. Jacob Skilbeck of 153 Duncan St., Yorkton, Sask., and she explains: "I was suffering greatly from sciatica. Indeed, the pain down my hip and thigh was so severe that I couldn't bear to put my foot to the floor. It was a fortunate day when a neighbour suggested Templeton's T-R-C's to me. I experienced splendid relief, and have recommended T-R-C's to everyone I know afflicted with sciatica, lumbago, rheumatic or arthritic pain!" If you—or a loved one—also suffer from any of these ailments, see if Templeton's T-R-C's aren't the quick, comforting answer! Ask your druggist for T-R-C's today—only 79¢ and $1.50.

Ratepayers Protest Sinks

A resolution and petition will be presented to city council today by the Victoria branch of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association urging amendment of the controversial sink-in-every-housekeeping-room by-law.

The resolution was approved unanimously by more than 200 association members at a meeting in Britannia Legion Hall last night.

Members decide to ask city council for amendment of the present by-law or the drafting of a new code.

Ald. J. Donald Smith invited all attending the meeting to come to the public hearing on trades licence changes Nov. 30.

He reviewed the reasons for calling the inquiry and warned the association to beware of pressure groups between now and Dec. 13. "A number of business firms are in favor of keeping the status quo for obvious reasons," he said.

Laing Defence

Court Hears Report Blasting Road Job

VANCOUVER (CP)—A government report criticizing nearly every phase of construction operations on the northern Cassiar-Stewart road was read in Supreme Court here Wednesday.

The report of E. A. Jamieson, government inspector on the road, was read by Sen. J. W. deB. Farris, counsel for Liberal leader Arthur Laing, defending a libel and slander suit brought against Mr. Laing by Wade and Wells Co. Ltd., contractors for the controversial road.

Mr. Jamieson's report, submitted to the legislative committee investigating the road last spring, said, "In all my 50 years of engineering, I have never encountered anything like this project."

It was claimed in the report that the department of highways will have to spend "a great deal of money" when it takes over from the private contractors.

This was part of Mr. Laing's defence against the suit of the contractors, who alleged they were libelled in a letter written by Mr. Laing to Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, and slandered when Mr. Laing read the letter to two Liberal rallies in March.

Mr. Jamieson said the contractors were inexperienced in northern road building and if competitive bids had been called among northern contractors, the road work would have gone ahead more smoothly.

"WASTE, DRINKING"

He said there was "appalling food wastage" drinking in the camp, no systematic inspection of vehicles, a waste of gasoline, disregard of drainage problems and improper construction of bridges. He also criticized the location of the road. He said the contractors had repeatedly refused to consider his warning, advice and orders.

Because of the inexperience of the contractors in northern road work, he felt the greater part of the 48.5-mile road south from Cassiar mine would have to be rebuilt completely because of floods, improper fills and general weather conditions.

Peruvian Warship Loading Lumber

A foreign warship is cruising these waters but no one is in the least alarmed.

The Peruvian navy ship Callao in Victoria during the weekend, is now at Chemainus and will be back here Friday. But it carries no guns and is here on the friendly of missions—international trade.

The commissioned naval ship has been put to money-earning use for the Peruvian government as a cargo vessel, and will sail from here with lumber for Puerto Rico. She is also a naval training vessel.

Under Capt. de Fragato Carlos Lloa, the ship travels on cargo duties and at the same time provides training mainly in navigation and seamanship. Officers and crew stay an average of two years on the Callao, then are dispersed to other ships of the Peruvian navy.

The Callao will make home port about February.

The visits are part of general cadet training.

Parties of cadets leave this evening and early tomorrow on the frigates HMCS Jonquiere and HMCS Ste. Therese and two naval auxiliary vessels for Powell River, where they will be guests of Powell River Company.

UN's Head Policeman Starts Big Job Today

CAIRO (AP)—A square-jawed Canadian veteran of two world wars is arriving in Egypt today to command a military organization that can make or break the United Nations as a peace-keeping force in the Middle East.

MAJ-GEN. E. L. M. BURNS

City Officer On His Way To Mid-East

Capt. V. A. McPherson of Victoria is in Montreal with other officers designated for service with Canada's contribution to administrative personnel to the UN Middle East police force.

The officers have been chosen from various army units and are ready to go, but army officials in Ottawa said they could not say when the group will leave.

Last night in Victoria his wife said she believed he was already on his way.

Capt. McPherson was formerly medical officer of the 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, at Gordon Head. He completed his internship at Royal Jubilee Hospital here.

His wife and three children live at 3227 Rutledge.

May-Gen. E. L. M. Burns is returning from talks in New York on the duties of the organization, a UN police force made up of nationalities as diverse as Colombians and Swedes, Yugoslavs and Indians.

Their job is to supervise the withdrawal of British, French and Israeli troops from Egypt and to maintain the prevailing cease-fire. Gen. Burns' assignment dramatizes a new lease on life the United Nations has taken in this turbulent part of the world.

FIGHTING SYMBOL

The force is primarily a symbol, he says, but it is prepared to fight if attacked. He quickly adds: "I do not expect any attack."

For more than two years Burns has headed the UN Truce Supervision Organization (UNTSO) for Palestine, operating from a Jerusalem site the ancients knew as the Hill of Evil Counsel. UNTSO has tried since 1949 to keep Arab and Israeli troops from fighting. It supervised the four armistice agreements between Israel on one hand and Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and Egypt on the other.

Gen. Burns had a team of around 30 observers armed only with white flags to keep watch on still boils down to one fact: If the big powers support this police force, it will do its job. If not, it and recommend. But it could will go the way of UNTSO."

SEQUENCE CALLING

saves you time and effort

When you have a number of important Long Distance calls to place, simply tell the operator you wish to place a Sequence Call. She will then place your calls in quick succession to save you time and effort.

If you call specific numbers regularly, you can file one or more lists of such numbers with the Telephone Company business office. You will then be assigned a Sequence Code number for each of these lists. Whenever you wish to talk to the people on one of your lists, just call Long Distance and give the operator your Sequence Code number, and she will do the rest.

125th Annual Statement

THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA

CONDENSED STATEMENT

AS AT OCTOBER 31, 1956

The Bank of Nova Scotia's Annual Statement is the story of people. Our 125th progress report shows how the Bank is helping the people of our nation to produce more... to save more... and to enjoy more. This is the theme of the story told in the figures below... a story about you and more than a million other Canadians who bank with the BNS.

ASSETS—the Bank's resources and how they work for you.

$194,252,618 Cash, clearings and due from banks

This is like cash in the Bank's till to service the cheques which BNS customers draw on their accounts.

$227,710,873 Canadian Government securities not exceeding market value

This amount helps finance varied Government activities such as the St. Lawrence Seaway; the National Harbours Board; Wheat Board payments; our National Defence needs.

$80,736,917 Other bonds and stocks, not exceeding market value

This sum represents the Bank's purchases of stocks and bonds—money which goes into the building of schools, highways, new plants and equipment—to make available for us all more of the good things in life.

$87,188,746 Call loans, secured

This money, lent to investment houses, is subject to immediate recall if required.

$641,037,962 Other loans and discounts, less provision for estimated loss

Our customers in Canada and abroad borrowed this amount for all kinds of personal and business purposes. These loans help finance the purchase of materials and the sale and distribution of goods... from the cutting of trees in the forest to the sale of refrigerators... from starting a business to improving a farm or home. Loans of this kind are the lifeblood of Canada's growth—the Bank's most important service to the community.

$19,865,233 Customers' liability under acceptance and letters of credit

See similar heading under "Liabilities". This is the opposite side of the coin, and the two amounts are thus the same.

$19,350,123 Bank premises, controlled company, and other assets

Most of this sum goes into a continuing programme of improving our branch facilities so that customers can do their banking more pleasantly and easily.

Total Assets $1,270,142,472

LIABILITIES—what the Bank owes.

$1,176,942,664 Deposits

More than a million customers now bank with the BNS. They deposit their money for a host of reasons—for business and household needs... as a retirement fund for the future... or to finance a college education. Our customers place these funds for safety and convenience in current and savings accounts, including such special accounts as the Bank's own PSP.

$19,865,233 Acceptances and letters of credit outstanding

This is the extent to which the Bank has guaranteed the credit of our customers buying from suppliers, particularly those in foreign lands. It matches the amount pledged by customers for repayment (see amount opposite similar heading under "Assets"). Business at home is thus encouraged to expand abroad... another way the Bank helps Canada grow.

$4,803,343 Other liabilities

This represents expenses which must be met but are not yet due... such as our 1956 Income Tax.

SHAREHOLDERS' EQUITY

$68,431,232 Capital paid up, retained account and undivided profits

The shareholders—the real owners of the Bank—contribute these funds which protect the interests of the customers. They thus ensure the strength and stability of the BNS, and help make possible the Bank's increasing role in aiding Canada's progress.

Total Liabilities $1,270,142,472

The essays are arranged in two sections: the first section contains essays on the history of the United States, and the second section contains essays on the history of the United States. Chief Forecasts
White Christmas

By ALEC MERRIMAN

Thundering jets in the sky, rumbling of propellers, and the sound of engines, these are the sounds that have been heard in Patricia Bay, B.C., since the arrival of the B-26 Superfortresses.

It is now, according to the acting chief of the Patricia Bay Indian band, Peter Jones, that the weather is topsy turvy.

"In the old times, the Indians would go to certain places on the hills and make a noise by hammering a tin can to make it rain," he said.

Now the planes make a noise and it rains, he said.

He said that the planes have been flying over the hills since they arrived in Patricia Bay, and that the weather has been very good since then.

B.C. Highway Slaughter
Sets Shocking RecordToll May Reach
300 This Year

By PETER BRUTON

Statistics show that 1956 is already the most disastrous year on record for highway slaughter in British Columbia.

Nothing can be done now to ease this year as the blackest ever for traffic tragedies, financial ruin and sorrow racked up on roads in all parts of the province.

Motorists are urged to drive carefully and to avoid any unnecessary risks. The B.C. Highway Slaughter Committee is urging motorists to drive carefully and to avoid any unnecessary risks.

Up to the end of October 245 men, women and children met violent deaths on B.C. highways.

Other statistics show there were 18,908 accidents between January and the end of October or an increase of 240 over last year and a total of 7,570 injuries, an increase of 1,235.

Property damage, valued at $1,000,000, was also done by highway accidents. The B.C. Highway Slaughter Committee is urging motorists to drive carefully and to avoid any unnecessary risks.

Victoria Labor Council clear up letters about which members were in doubt.

Brice Johnston, reporting for the political action committee, said it had not yet come up with any possible labor candidates for Greater Victoria municipal elections.

Property qualifications were restrictive, delegates said, and it was argued that these drawbacks should be removed.

...But They Aren't So Sure

Caddy-Watchers Really Convinced

By COURTESY TOWER

It isn't likely to start any more. The caddy-watching game has been going on for a long time, and it is not likely to stop any time soon.

A group of fishermen and other men of the sea, hilled as those who would know best about such things, recently formed a group to watch caddy-watching.

Not so say several others, including a fisherman who says he has been watching caddy-watching for a long time, and he has seen many caddy-watching men.

He is Rex Doyle, an old fisherman who has been watching caddy-watching for a long time, and he has seen many caddy-watching men.

But that was before we saw this definite object. It was certainly unusual with humps and ridges like people had said. As far as we were concerned, we were sure we had seen Caddy.

There was a caddy-watching man who was sure he had seen Caddy. He was sure he had seen Caddy, and he was sure he had seen Caddy.

There was a caddy-watching man who was sure he had seen Caddy. He was sure he had seen Caddy, and he was sure he had seen Caddy.

There was a caddy-watching man who was sure he had seen Caddy. He was sure he had seen Caddy, and he was sure he had seen Caddy.

There was a caddy-watching man who was sure he had seen Caddy. He was sure he had seen Caddy, and he was sure he had seen Caddy.

And that of them, never go to the caddy-watching game. My son has been watching caddy-watching for a long time, and he has seen many caddy-watching men.

Some of the other caddy-watching men are sure they have seen Caddy. They are sure they have seen Caddy, and they are sure they have seen Caddy.

Some of the other caddy-watching men are sure they have seen Caddy. They are sure they have seen Caddy, and they are sure they have seen Caddy.

Do-It-Yourself Addict Now Prefers Experts

Before this recent move I was inclined to be a "do-it-yourself" addict. But for various personal reasons the time had to be changed so to speak. From now on I am a firm believer in experts. And I take off by hat to the telephone people, the gas stove people (and more on this in another chat because this is the first time I've ever cooked by gas during 25 years of living in and out of Canada), the refrigerator representative, to say nothing of the man who came up to demonstrate the new vacuum cleaner, and the old sewing machine.

Now the point of this fairy story is this... Call in the experts. But will you understand it for a cold night it certainly supplies the calories. PORK CHOPS WITH BEANS This is an oven meal. You can baked beans. All you do is this... put the cooked beans in a casserole and on top of them put the necessary number of pork chops which have previously been pan-browned. Dare I suggest you "dribble" the whole thing with maple syrup? No, maybe not, it was just a trick learned in the Southern States and, frankly, I didn't care for it either. But if you bake this combination in a moderate oven until the pork chops are as tender as chicken, and season to your own taste, you cannot lose. Apple sauce and a crisp salad make good accompaniments.

Then make up a big (or small) bowl of real cheese sauce. By that I mean you simply make an ordinary fairly thick white sauce and throw in lots of grated cheese. Such a sauce is served alongside your chosen vegetables, to which everyone helps themselves. And don't forget parsley, or some other green, should be chopped finely and sprinkled generously over the vegetables for color effect. Serve this vegetable meal with your bread, toasted or plain, and follow it with tea and sweet cookies—and that's it, sister!

Our next recipe is most amusing for a fairly heavy meal but I don't quite know what to call it. Unless the term temperature drops to zero (it may not interest you. But, all fooling aside, I know exactly what you're thinking but it is true. I couldn't rub two nickels to gether at the present time, so money had nothing whatsoever to do with it. What impressed me so much was the wonderful service. Sure, I offered the telephone man and the gas man a cup of tea, which I hope they enjoyed. Over the telephone you truly listened to most interesting stories of their families. The first mentioned had five youngsters, the second mentioned had two (and a half). Now a lot of women, and I was one of them, do not realize how much free help we can get from so many companies, just for the asking. Admittedly, a smile instead of a frown and a joke instead of a grouch works wonders.

A-LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

BACKWARD GLANCE—To set off low-cut evening fashions, a satin-smooth back is a major requirement. One quick method for satinizing—freeing the back of blackheads and scuff—follows.

Daily, scrub back with a sudsy brush. Follow with application of hand or body lotion. To apply it, use a long-handled sponge.

Weekly, soap back and massage in a grainy cleanser. You will find several at cosmetic counters, or you can make one with fine table salt and mineral oil, mixed to a paste. Again, application is best made with a sponge. Faithful treatment achieves petals effects.

Still a Few Bachelors Left After Leap Year

By GAY PAULEY

For leap year fast is passing into history, and there are only 40 days left in which to propose to Howard Hughes, Dag Hammarskjold, Elvis Presley or J. Edgar Hoover. (We're counting Sundays and holidays day week).

It is encouraging to report that leap year already has paid dividends for several of us. Actress Grace Kelly altared her future to include Prince Rainier of Monaco. Margaret Truman married E. C. Daniel, Jr., a New York newspaperman. Marilyn Monroe married playwright Arthur Miller.

Guri Lie, daughter of Trygve Lie, the former secretary-general of the United Nations eloped with William Zeckendorf, Jr., son of the real estate millionaire. And New Jersey's 48-year-old Gov. Robert Meyner got engaged; he and Helen Stevenson, a distant cousin of Adlai, will be married in January.

MORE VICTIMS Other eligibles already caught in the tender trap include Hal March, Phil Silvers, Dave Garroway and Don Cherry of television, and Greg Bautzer, Hollywood attorney. Even Prof. R. R. Rubens was a leap year victim.

The statistics don't tell who proposed to whom. But the facts from Uncle Sam indicate that all told, this has been a more prosperous leap year around the country, than 1952. The government reported that this year, January through August, the latest count available, there were 1,038,000 marriages compared with 1,022,744 in the same period in 1952.

But the list of eligibles still were in charge of the tea.

As a public service, I have compiled a list of "You are on your leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., own after reading I am too and Senators Henry M. Jackson, bus; with my own leap year son. Warren G. Magnuson, campaign to give out telephone Richard H. Russell and Theodore Francis Brown and seven numbers.

Most of the eligibles are at $8,000,000, experienced at bachelors. A few were escaping leap year husbands. Married, but have been single other potential husbands. Elvis long enough and are rich. (Hound Dog Presses, Hong enough—to rate most any female's dream.)

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass
Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just get a little FASTERITE, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not hurt. Checks "plate odor" (anxiety breath). Get FASTERITE at any drug counter.

Shadowy Menace

Creeping Inflation Threatens Nation
By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Inflation can spell many things to many people. It may bring despair to elderly folk living on small fixed incomes. It can bring unrest to workers and new spirals to prices. The experts agree that inflation has slipped into the Canadian economy this year, but most consider it more of a shadowy menace than a thundering giant.

It is a mild, creeping form of inflation, they said. But the threat of economic harm was there. And despite efforts to pin it down, it appears likely, the authorities said, that inflation would continue to creep through the economy in 1957.

That means the federal government's fight against inflation will continue: that Finance Minister Harris will likely aim for another large surplus in his 1957-58 budget; that interest rates will remain high and that there will be continual close federal watch over the volume of loans made by the banks, stock exchanges, sales-financing houses and others.

PRICES INCREASE
The inflation of 1956 has appeared on several fronts. Wholesale and retail prices increased. Prices climbed in the scramble for some scarce raw materials.

The competition for credit stiffened, and interest rates reached a new high. Federal monetary and fiscal machinery moved in to fight the swell.

By mid-1956, living costs climbed to a record. The consumer price index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, rose to 118.5 in June, cracking the previous high of 118.2 set in December, 1955.

Wholesale prices kept raising. The wholesale index, based on 1935-39 equalling 100, increased in a record 227 by mid-August. It was the 10th monthly rise

Terrorism Mounting Rumor on Cyprus EOKA Chief Dead

By PETER WEBB

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Unconfirmed rumors circulated yesterday that Col. George Grivas, dashing chief of the anti-British EOKA underground, is dead.

With the rumors go reports that "civil war" has broken out in EOKA between left and right-wing factions.

There is no confirmation of such talk. It may be mere speculation based on the fact that EOKA leaflets recently have been appearing signed "EOKA," instead of the familiar "Digenis," which is Grivas's code name.

In the meantime, the casualty toll is mounting and Cyprus, which once seemed to be simmering down, seems to be in for another winter of violence.

So far this month 33 people have been killed—one-third more than the total British dead in the Port Said landings and the highest monthly total since the terrorism began.

Latest victim was a seven-year-old boy shot dead in a blazing gun battle when terrorists ambushed two British army vehicles, wounding four soldiers.

The boy, Andonis Panyal, was caught in the crossfire and killed. His 40-year-old mother was shot in the left eye, his father wounded in the arm. Their home was left a bullet-riddled shambles with a pool of blood by the door.

Never since the terrorism began has there been such fear and tension throughout the island.

War correspondents returning from Port Said make haste to change their uniforms to civilian clothes.

Among the Greek Cypriots wearied by 18 months of killings, curfews and collective fines, there is a feeling close to despair.

On the other side, the British are retreating behind their barbed wire and learning to live among the bombs and bullets, stubbornly determined not to give in.

A journey to a bank becomes a military operation with two men standing at the door with Sten guns and rifles ready while an officer cashes a cheque. It looks more like a holdup.

That is how all Cyprus lives today—waiting a bullet in the back.

'I'll Be an Addict Until I Die'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A drug addict stood up at a narcotics meeting Tuesday night and solemnly declared, "Until the day I die I know I will be addicted to it."

The man, who asked to remain anonymous, rose to his feet at the rear of the hall where Dr. James G. Foulkes, head of the UBC department of pharmacology, had addressed a lodge meeting on addiction.

"I am a drug addict," he told his attentive listeners. "I have longed to speak to a group of intelligent men who are interested in drug addiction."

The man posed the question: "Is it possible for an addict to be cured?"

He said he has a fine wife and a good job and "other than this" lives an average life.

"I have jeopardized my freedom by coming here tonight. If it's found out I am a drug addict I will have no job tomorrow."

He turned to reporters present and said: "Please don't use my name."

Then he left the hall.
